Prohibition Leader

W. A. WARREN

Mr. Warren was elected county leader of the dry forces who will campaign to retain state wide prohibition in the August 24th election.

Large Part Wheat Will Be Harvested This Week

Most of the wheat of Randall county will be harvested by the end of this week, according to reports of the local elevators yesterday.

The yield has been a disappointment since the wheat is running much lighter than was contemplated when harvest first started.

Only about 20 cars will be received in Canyon, according to late estimates.

The rain of last week cut the test somewhat, bleaching the wheat and causing the weeds to get considerable growth.

Wheat was bringing 80 cents on the local market yesterday.

STONE CABIN CONSTRUCTION IS STARTED

20 More Stone Cabins are Planned for State Park

NEAR THE LODGE

Many Projects Nearing Approval for Future Work

The National Park Service has approved the construction of 20 more cabins in the Palo Duro Park, and work was started Monday by Supt. Louis J. Bryan on a test cabin to determine the cost. The first cabins will be of stone, located west of the lodge on the same ledge of rock as the lodge occupies.

A few weeks ago the decision was reached to build cabins of wood, making it possible for them to be moved to any desirable part of the Park. It was thought best to use wood due to the short time necessary to complete such cabins, in the face of the increasing demand for cabins to rent.

Mr. Bryan believes that the stone cabins may be built in practically the same time as the wooden cabins would require, and would be much more serviceable and attractive to those who seek accommodations at the Park. As soon as the cost of the test cabin is determined, the 19 additional cabins will be approved.

No work has been done on the lodge for some time, awaiting approval of the National Park Service. The revamped plans for the lodge call for sleeping quarters on the second floor, which were not included in the original plans. The Advisory Committee recommended Sunday that a hard wood floor be placed immediately in the dining room as many calls are made for dancing parties at the lodge.

Work was started Monday on the rock wall at the entrance of the Park. Plans of the building at the entrance were completed some time ago, and will likely be approved in Washington before many days.

The four stone cabins at Cow Camp have been supplied with temporary furniture. Permanent furniture of cedar is now under construction. Water lines are being run to the cabins. Springs on the

Highway Will Be Topped This Week

Plan Continue Work on No. 9 Through the County

Topping of the Goodnight Trail from Canyon to the Palo Duro Park will be completed by Saturday unless some unforeseen delay occurs.

The Public Service Construction Company will spend next week in cleaning up along the shoulders, and will probably complete the contract by the end of next week. A record for topping was set Monday when asphalt was spread over two miles of the highway.

W. C. Cotton, resident engineer, states that the Highway Department has in a number of projects for Randall County under the new WPA set up. The first will be to complete widening No. 9 through Canyon, and topping the shoulders. Work is continuing south of Canyon on the channel of the creek, and this project will be continued.

Between Canyon and Amarillo it is planned to continue the filling of ditches which was started last year under CWA. Topping of the

A camp gasoline stove started a small fire at the Stroupe home, 1207 7th Ave., yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock. The stove was moved from the home before serious damage resulted.

The house belongs to Mrs. Bonna G. Williams of Bovina.

ATTENDS ROTARY MEET

Lee Johnson returned Tuesday night from Vernon where he attended the president-secretary district conference of the Rotary Club. Mr. Johnson is secretary of the local Club. President Irby Carruth is in Europe and unable to attend the conference.

Gist Returns From Washington Conflab

Increased 1935 Wheat Payment 4c—Plans Adopted

R. B. Gist returned Saturday from Washington where he was called to represent the wheat growers of Texas in a conference for future work under AAA.

"It was a most successful conference," stated Mr. Gist. "The announcement of Secretary Wallace that the adjustment for 1935 will be 33 cents per bushel as compared to 29 cents for 1934 is the first announced results of the conference. The representatives were not allowed to make a release of the decisions reached, but these will come from Washington as the department feels justified in giving them to the farmers," stated Mr. Gist.

Mr. Gist states that Secretary Wallace is thoroughly in accord with the AAA program, and believes that the farmers must continue to have this relief.

The farmers throughout the nation are backing the program, but there is a very strong sentiment in the east in favor of the repeal of the processing taxes. The agitation in the east is responsible for the suits being filed against AAA.

The balance of the nation does not appreciate what the drouth has done to the west, is the opinion of Mr. Gist. All the way east from Oklahoma he saw very fine crops. Those opposed to the processing taxes believe that the farmers should be satisfied with these abundant crops, and do not realize that the great farming section of the west is still hit by the drouth.

Mr. Gist states that the administration is firmly behind the agricultural plans of Secretary Wallace. The Secretary has been invited to Amarillo on August 5th for the purpose of meeting agricultural leaders of this section and receiving frist hand information as to conditions in this section.

Fourth of July Celebrated By Local Citizens

No local celebration was planned for the Fourth of July, but the citizens of Canyon took advantage of the holidays by visiting many spots of interest in this section.

A number took time off and made trips to New Mexico. One party visited the Carlsbad Cavern, while a number of groups spent the week end in the mountains.

The largest gathering in this section was at the Palo Duro Canyon State Park, with 504 cars entering the Park for private picnics.

The boat races at the Amarillo lake, northeast of Canyon, were witnessed by a small crowd in comparison to the other gatherings in this section.

Many citizens spent the day at the Palisades State Park.

Citizens of Hereford opened the new State Park with a picnic and barbecue which was attended by 4,000 people. Clyde Warwick made the address, discussing the state park system.

Largest Crowd Ever at Palo Duro During the Past Week

857 car loads of people entered the Palo Duro State Park during the past week. The largest number came on the Fourth of July, when 504 cars entered the Park. The large number came as a mild surprise considering the number of picnics and celebrations which were held at various places over the Panhandle.

The following was the attendance by days this week:

Monday, 14 cars; Tuesday 25; Wednesday 45; Thursday 504; Friday 35; Saturday 41; Sunday 173.

The largest number of cars came from Amarillo with 277 registered; Pampa 39; Canyon 35; Lubbock 27; Tulia 17; Plainview 16; Borger 15; Dallas and McLean 11 each; Panhandle, Claude, 9 each; Wellington 8; Happy, Shamrock, 7 each; Hereford, Skellytown, 6 each; Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Lockney, Hedley, 5 each; Friona, Hale Center, Olton, Dumas, Perryton, Vega, 4 each; Quitaque, Farwell, Abernathy, Dimmitt, Muleshoe, San Antonio, 3 each; Tahoka, Whittenburg, Conway, Vernon, Amherst, Floydada, Turkey, Sudan, Brownfield, Cameron, Miami, Dalhart, White Deer, Silverton, Bonham, Abilene, 2 each. The balance were scattered from far sections of the state.

78 cars came from 18 states outside of Texas.

186 New Books Added to Library During the Week

New books are being added daily to the County Library located in the court house. 186 new books have been received this week, and are being placed on the shelves as rapidly as they are catalogued.

Included in the list of books are 42 children and juveniles of the most popular authors.

In the new dollar selection are 28 volumes which have been announced by the publishers during the past two months.

The largest demand at the library is for popular copyrights, and 96 of these books were secured. These are the novels on which the copyrights has expired during the past six months, and were reprinted this year at the new low popular prices.

The library continues to serve a larger number of people every week, states Miss Fannie Malone, librarian.

PLANTING AS PART EROSION PREVENTATIVE

Offered to Farmers To Allow Stalks Remain In Fields

ASK BRING SACKS

Seed Being Distributed Through County Agent

Free seed for farmers to plant in the soil erosion campaign arrived Tuesday and will be handled from the room in the back of the First National Bank building. 13,700 pounds of hegari, maize and kaffir were received. Millard Word will dispense the seed. The office will be open in the afternoons from 1:00 until 6:00 o'clock.

The seed is free to farmers who will agree to plant the seed according to specifications, and allow the stalks to stand throughout the winter as a barrier against erosion. 1½ pounds to the acre will be allowed for seeding. The seed must be used on summer fallowed land, or land now bare. It cannot be planted on land which was planted to wheat this year.

Farmers wishing the seed are advised to bring their own sacks.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch is in charge of this work in Randall county, under the direction of H. H. Finnell, division director of the soil erosion campaign.

The agreement necessary to get this seed is a simple and honest promise to leave an effective cover on the land through the winter. The land which goes into the winter without straw, stubble or stalks will continue to blow away and damage nearby crops as long as it remains in an exposed condition.

The more bare fields can be got under cover before fall the safer the condition will be generally for the next blow season. Therefore, everyone who does not have a crop on the ground capable of leaving an effective residue behind is urged to obtain seed and plant at the first seasonable opportunity.

This is the first step in the permanent soil erosion program to get under way in Randall county. It is expected to help prevent soil blowing next fall and winter. The success of this as well as other steps in the program will depend entirely on the co-operation of the farmers who operate the land.

Most farmers will know this summer whether their land is likely to be in blowing condition next winter. Farmers know also that stalks left on the land when wheat is seeded will help hold the soil.

Postal Receipts Show Increase by Quarter and Year

Postal receipts in Canyon continue to increase. For the fiscal year, ending June 30, there was an increase of $610.10 over the close of the fiscal year in 1934.

The receipts for the past quarter showed a slight gain over the receipts of the corresponding quarter of 1934 of $65.92.

No word has been received as to the prospects for the proposed new postoffice building in Canyon, but the bill now in congress for additional post office buildings makes the prospects good for the local building.

Association Senior Golf Formed, Players Over 45 Years

Wallace R. Clark has been named director of the newly formed Tri-State Senior Golf Association. O. T. Nicholson of Shamrock is president.

Directors have been chosen from each town in this section which has a golf club, and plans for a tournament will soon be made.

Membership fee in the new organization is $1.00, and the only requirement is that the member shall be 45 years of age.

Jim Ferguson is fighting the old age pension amendment to be voted upon August 24th. As much as you may regret to admit it, old Jim has defeated more constitutional amendments than any man in Texas. In this instance, we are of the opinion that he will not succeed, since the old age pension appeals very much to those over 65 years of age, and to a large percentage of those who are nearing this age. The fact that this amendment will increase state taxes 50% is a small consideration to a majority of those who will support the amendment. Those who are considering the pension, and may question its results, yet are afraid to speak out against it, appreciate very much the position of a Congressman. These men are often confronted with a pension bill which they do not like, yet are forced to vote for it or lose a number of votes. Mr. Ferguson is of the opinion that it is a bad policy to increase the state's taxes without knowing where the money is coming from. At least more interest is being taken in the August election so that a fairly representative vote will be cast. As the matter stands, not more than 66⅔ percent of the voters of Texas will be able to participate owing to the fact that they failed to qualify this year when they failed to pay their poll taxes.

Congress refused to pass the death bill for holding companies in spite of the insistence of the President. For some reason the President is trying to whip the big utilities, and has sponsored measures which are greatly in opposition to their interest. No doubt the experiences of the public during the past few years has created a most unpopular attitude toward utilities, but nevertheless, the fact remains there have been good utilities as well as bad ones. Those who have money invested in the utilities which have been fair with the public and fair with their stockholders should not be punished just for the purpose of getting rid of the undesirables. Those stockholders who have been fairly treated urged Congress not to disturb their investments in those sound companies, and the response was against the will of the President.

Why not some enterprising organization in Canyon take charge of the street markers? These markers are either knocked over, or the paint has so badly faded that they cannot be read. The markers when in order are a wonderful aid. As they are now, they are of little or no aid. The campaign could also be renewed to number houses on which the number plates have disappeared or which have been broken. What organization wishes a job that will be of real service?

Governor Tingsley of New Mexico unceremoniously annexed the Panhandle of Texas to his state while attending the Young Democrats convention in Amarillo. Now he is organizing military forces in this section for the purpose of conquest, if needs be. John L. McCarty of the Dalhart Texan and Red Christie of Quanah have been appointed Lieutenant Colonels on Governor Tingsley's staff, and so far constitute the military strength of New Mexico in the Panhandle.

The largest crowd to ever visit the Palo Duro State Park came during the past week. The Park certainly made a most impressive appearance to the visitors. The creek was filled with water, just high enough so that cars could safely drive the crossings, but with lots of water sufficiently deep for bathing all along the creek. High praises for the Park were sung by those who came and were impressed with the possibilities of the Palo Duro.

The state auditor has registered a complaint that the last session of the legislature required him to audit the relief business in Texas quarterly and report to each member of the legislature, but failed to provide any money. As we view the situation, the relief set up already has too many auditors, supervisors and overhead, which is eating up the money which was intended for relief work.

A warning to local fans: Don't take your softball games too seriously. Up at Dalhart the other night two respectable citizens became so over-enthusiastic in the game that they engaged in a fight. After sober thought they realized what fools they weere to let a ball game get them down. There is no fun in the game when the players let it get on their nerves.

While June was a most pleasant and cool month, July is not failing to turn on the heat.

It is very unlikely that the people will ever learn that they cannot get rich by gambling. Every sort of gambling device that human ingenuity can devise is being manufactured for the purpose of extracting the coin of the realm from the foolish holders.

Cut the weeds. While the weeds are not as high as they usually are at this time of the year, yet they are too numerous and are getting too large. Hay fever sufferers will call the citizens blessed if all weeds are cut at once.

Mighty obscure town which has not had its run in with the Black Widow spider, with one or more of its citizens coming out a hero.

Key Bros. stayed up in the air for 27 days; but we know a lot of folks who have been up in the air for 27 years or more.

The two banks at Tulia merged Friday. The day of two banks in a small town has passed.

BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS

Muleshoe Journal: Wet and dry campaigns, starting off in high gear, will test the ability of ballyhoo to arouse a generally indifferent electorate during the next 60 or 70 days of far-reaching social and economic effect, whether the 17-year experiment in prohibition shall be put to an end, or whether it will be continued.

Already the ranks of both sides are forming in battle phalanxes, captains being selected, speeches being prepared and programs being arranged. The Ministerial Alliance organization has already stated its members will take a very active part in the fight, and announcements of such plans are now being daily expected.

The moderate 3.2 beer amendment scored by 100,000 majority, yet perhaps that is no criterion to judge hard liquor. It is claimed by the drys that their people did not get out and vote as they should have done; probably they will not again—and again, they may vote stronger than before.

At any rate, a big vote is practically already assured, not so much because the liquor question is up; but rather because the old-age pension occupies first place on the ballots to be cast August 24.

ONE WAY PLOWS

Floydada Hesperian: The use of the one-way plow, come to be accepted in recent years as the plow that will kill the weeds most easily and get land ready for wheat most cheaply, is credited by many students of the soil problem as about the worst farming implement that ever hit Floyd County.

Skimming over the ground at a depth of two to three inches, the plow kills vegetation without burying it to enrich the soil, and its continued turning over of just a light layer of the soil is also said to creat a hardpan hard for water to penetrate and soak up the ground. Nor, with its use, is the lower soils into which root systems must penetrate, given an opportunity to be aired and sunned. That is the argument, approximately, of those who say that introduction of the one-way, hailed as the wheat raisers' friend, has had a lot to do with increased blowing of the soil, spread of weed infestation, and increasing trouble with crop failures when rains fail to fall "just at the right time."

PRAISES W. T.

Few colleges are so loyally supported by neighboring cities as is the West Texas State Teachers College. Few are so enthusiastically boosted by live newspaper editors who are aware of the importance of changes in the educational world.

President J. A. Hill's recently proposed course of study which would change the curriculum so that professional training for teachers would be offered only to those in the third, fourth, and fifth year at the institution, thus raising the standards of teaching for this area, received the following comment in the Plainview Sunday Herald:

"The West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon announces a revamped course of study.

"Two years of academic work will be offered, paralleling the work of a junior college, without any requirements in Education or preparation for teaching. Those who comply with its requirements will receive a master's degree. This is aimed at development of master teachers.

"Thus the great college has altered its courses to meet the requirements of those who may not plan to teach school and bids for a greater enrollment.

"West Texas has longer school terms, better school houses and better prepared teachers we are told—and we believe it—than the older sections of the state. The Herald attributes these facts to the character of its citizenry and to a great degree to the West Texas State Teachers College. For it has furnished a host of qualified, local young men and women who have taken the teaching profession seriously and who have been WILLING to teach in the smaller schools. They have not had the complex that they are above teaching small country schools, have attacked their problems with the feeling that it took their very best efforts to solve them. They considered their tasks big ones and important ones and put forth every effort to measure up to their conception of the big task.

"Due to the wide area from which it has drawn its large student bodies, and due to the fact that the bulk of its graduates entered the teaching profession, wherein each has contacted large number of boys and girls, The Herald believes sincerely that no institution has exerted a greater or a better influence on the school life of West Texas than has the Canyon Normal, in recent years known as West Texas State Teachers College."

Laura Ferne Brian was in Silverton last week-end where she visited Dorothy Dickinson.

Vacationists View 'New World'

The weird figures pictured above are really vacationists at Old Point Comfort Beach, Va., about to indulge in the newest water, or rather under-water, sport. Specially constructed diving helmets enable them to walk about for 10 or 15 minutes at a time on the bottom of Chesapeake Bay, viewing the wonders of "another world."

This 4-H Gathering an Initial Success

When members of the Washington State 4-H Club gathered at the State College for a good time, in what better way could they symbolize the event than in the manner above, forming a human outline of their state and the initials of the club? One thousand boys and girls, from all counties in Washington, were represented.

Evidently Fond of Cantaloupe

We've noticed that most women have a sense of humor. The more you humor them the better they like it.

The man who wants to borrow money should always do it from a pessimist. He won't expect to get it back.

The new brakes that can stop a 70-mile-an-hour car in 20 feet must be almost as good as a telephone pole.

Always remember that it's impossible to quarrel with a man or woman who won't answer back.

The pioneers may have had their troubles, but they never had to mow grass with a dull lawn mower.

Another way to get rid of your troubles is to try carrying the other fellow's burdens.

Don't follow in the footsteps of others. It's better to make bigger tracks of your own.

Footprints on the sands of time are not made by riding around in an automobile all the time.

Many men work like they were afraid of the evil of over-production.

Men who never forget boys have their reward on earth.

A "baby" motor, 10 inches long and 7 inches high, is pictured above, displayed by its young builder, Lathiel Morris, Jr., of Venice, Calif. Phases of Vocations Are Discussed Tuesday at Rotary Club

Dr. Bob Neblett was in charge of the program at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, discussing the obligations of a Rotarian to his vocation. "The Rotarian carries the ethics of Rotary to those of his profession," stated Dr. Neblett.

The law profession was discussed by Jessie Barker, as to what extent the lawyer could defend the man whom he knew was guilty of crime. The lawyer's duty is to see that his client gets a fair trial, and that there is introduced all of the evidence which is allowed by law. Every lawyer takes the oath to follow the law, but some do not do this. That justice is not always given in court was shown by the case of three men charged for the same crime in Randall county; one plead guilty and received 5 years; the second had a trial and received 15 years; the third likewise was tried, and although the evidence showed he was equally guilty, he received only one year.

Clarence Thompson discussed installment buying. This type of buying has increased during the past few years and is extended to every line of buying. Great finance companies have been established to take care of this class of business. Benefits of this type of buying are: Increase in the standards of living; increase of business and industry in the nation. Disadvantages are: eroneous increase of individual debts; credit inflation, which has been charged as being largely responsible for the depression.

Cherokee Bob Johnson's Screeching Line Drives Are Acquainting American League Hurlers With the Meaning of "White Man's Burden"

BY PHILIP MARTIN

A GROUP of American League twirlers, it is rumored, are thinking of banding together and negotiating a peace treaty with Chief Bob Johnson, the Athletics' Cherokee scourge from Oklahoma.

Pioneers of old could take refuge behind covered wagons from assaults of Mr. Johnson's forebears, they argue. But in modern baseball diamonds it's hard to dodge the line drives of this particular redskin.

Hardly a "vanishing American," Johnson has made himself so conspicuous in the junior circuit that he's been tagged the logical successor to Old Babe himself.

Lochinvar-like, Bob came out of the west—from Portland, Ore.—when Connie Mack beckoned to him in 1933. He came with a burning ambition to make good, and a reputation as a sucker for a curve. After Bing Miller helped him remedy the latter difficulty, Bob started on the road to fame.

The route he chose was methodical and slow, but sure. He catalogued the pitching idiosyncrasies of each and every hurler in Mr. Harridge's loop, and studied them diligently. Before long he could, at will, call the offerings handed him by pitchers.

BOB, by the way, is the kid brother of that other rampaging redskin, Roy Johnson, big gun of the Boston Red Sox, and it is Brother Roy whom Bob credits with improving his fielding, another department in which he excels.

Only 26 years of age and solidly constructed, Johnson should continue to rattle base hits off the fences of American League apple orchards for many years to come. Consistently, he has been showing the way to hitters in his circuit, and is well up among the leaders in home runs, runs batted in, runs scored and total number of hits.

Although lacking the color and showmanship of many outstanding sluggers, Johnson is known among his fellow performers as a ball player's ball player—greater tribute than which there is none, to a diamond athlete.

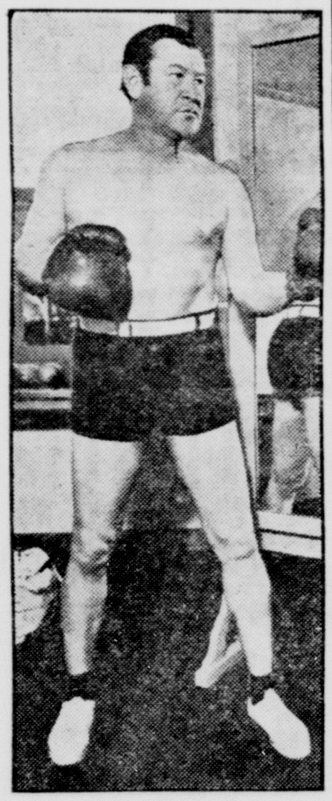
Famed Athlete Crashes Films



Once acclaimed as the greatest athlete of all time, Jim Thorpe, above, is shown "getting in trim" for his part in a forthcoming screen production. At Carlisle Indian School, Thorpe once made football history; later, as an Olympic athlete, he won the decathlon and set marks which startled the track world.

Survey Reveals 'There's No Place Like Home' or Highway for Accidents

ONCE every 6½ minutes last year, a victim was claimed by the violent death that hovers always over homes, factories, and automobiles.

Household, industrial, and automobile accidents alone, a recent survey reveals, cut down the population of the United States by some 84,000 people in 1934.

Besides this number, 15,000 more lives were ended by other types of accidents; drowning, for instance, which annually vies with the auto as a major menace to life.

The whole grim picture, a sad object lesson in the penalty of carelessness, reveals an odd sidelight. The home, famed in song and fable for its security, ranks above the factory and near the auto as a lair of death.

In 1934, 15,500 people were killed at work; but in the home, so-called "haven of refuge," 33,000 died from falls, burns, electrocution, suffocation, or other causes. The auto led the home as a major cause of accidental death by only 2500 fatalities.

CARELESSNESS is one of the principal reasons why "there's no place like home" for accidents. Falls, for instance, caused 13,000, or almost half the number of deaths in the home last year. And most of these plunges were due to faulty, rickety stepladders; poorly lighted stairways; "skidjy" rugs or bathtubs; soaps, orooms, or other impediments left lying about on the floor or on stair steps, and to the use of chairs and boxes as stepladders.

Aged people are generally the victims of this type of accident. On the other hand, the second most costly type of home accident—fires, burns, and explosions—usually involves children. Approximately half of the 5700 persons who died from fire causes last year were children under 15.

Matches; use of gasoline and similar inflammable fluids for cleaning purposes; stoves, fireplaces, and bonfires—these were the most general causes of fatal burns and scaldings suffered by children.

Poisoning, asphyxiation, and suffocation proved the third greatest home hazard, taking a toll of 3600 lives. Unlabelled bottles in the medicine cabinet, leaking gas pipes, and poorly ventilated garages, were mainly responsible.

The accident explained by "I didn't know it was loaded" killed 800 people. And 5200 died in miscellaneous home accidents, being scalded by hot liquids, injured by tools, cutlery, broken glass, tin cans, rusty nails, splinters, or bitten by stray cats and dogs. Children were hardest hit in the last-named classification.

THE survey reveals that a person should be more careful about the kitchen than in any other part of the house. The kitchen accounts for fully 34 per cent of all home accidents.

Stairways are next, causing 23 per cent of the domestic mishaps. And then come the living room and the basement, with 13 per cent. The survey reveals the bedroom is the safest room in the house.

The moral is not that to be absolutely safe, home life should be one long nap; but "just the other way around." Everyone about the house should keep as wide awake as possible about what he is doing.

Johnstons Back From Field Trip

Rhinoceros Bones Are Added to Museum Collection

Mr. and Mrs. C. Stuart Johnston, and Mrs. Johnston's brother, George Counts, returned Monday from a week's stay in the paleontological camp at the Coffee ranch in Hemphill County.

They brought back the complete jaw, including tusks and teeth, of a rhinoceros, the hip bones of a rhinoceros, various bones of camels and horses, and a large assortment of carniverous animal bones.

Mrs. Johnston Assists

Mrs. Johnston, on these trips, besides acting as chef for hungry hunters, also spends the days in the hills, digging and brushing in helping to preserve the prehistoric bones. Mrs. Johnston was a member of the paleontology classes of the college last winter and has spent considerable time digging in the bone beds of Palo Duro Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston are planning to dig out and bring back a three foot square of earth showing the bones in the period formation. The soil is rich in fossil tracks of birds, tigers and dogs.

On a trip to a bone bed near Clarendon early last week to recover the bones of an elephant, they found only one leg and foot of the elephant. Other parts of the skeleton were missing.

this SUMMER GASOLINE

For the most vacation at the least cost, GO IN YOUR CAR!

But don't forget your motor. Every tankful of Phillips 66 is like a vacation for overheated engines. It stops the knocks and ends lost power.

As for economy—we built the reputation and sales of Phillips 66 by giving greater value for the money. We knew that no single, unchanging gasoline could do this all year round, as the weather changes from cold to hot and back to cold again.

So our research scientists worked out a brilliant innovation. Made Phillips 66 the gasoline with CONTROLLED VOLATILITY. Pioneered the idea. Developed it in the face of early skepticism. Today, Phillips 66 is recognized as the 100% custom-tailored gasoline. It meets the needs of your engine in any weather—up in the nineties or down below zero—because it is made differently for the different seasons of the year. Matched and re-matched to your weather every month.

Try a tankful of this cooler, finer, summer gasoline. You get sweeter running. And a real bargain, too, because you can Phill-up with Phillips at no additional cost!

Prof. L. F. Sheffy Writes Foreword to Cowboy Book

Prof. L. F. Sheffy of Canyon, field secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society and head of the history department wrote the foreword to the book, "Spur Jingles and Saddle Songs," written by L. Gough, former T-Anchor ranch cowboy. The book is being published by the Russell Stationery Company, Amarillo.

Mr. Gough of Amarillo started composing the "jingles" on the trail in 1882. They were written down at the T-Anchor ranch a few years later. The poems were collected and printed first in 1886. The present volume shows a reprint of the front page of the old book, "Western Travels and Other Rhymes." In addition to the rhythmical stories of the Panhandle range are short stories of characters and places.

Road Runners Still Leading Local League

Clean Record Is Maintained By Only One Team

The Road Runners continue to hold the top notch in the Softball League, with a clean record of winning 8 games, and no losses. The big shots of the league have declared war on the Demonstration School bunch, and will center fire on the speedy outfit. Every team in the league has requested to be pitted against the Road Runners, and each is determined to smear the slate of the leaders. The Whites gave the league toppers a scare Tuesday night in one of the fastest games of the season. The Runners lived up to their name by annexing 10 scores in the first inning and two in the second. After that the Whites gradually gained with the game ending in an exciting finish of 14-13.

Where, Oh where, is the Ex-Eagle bunch. That gang has defaulted in three games this week, and take the cellar position as a result of failing to show up. An effort is being made to get the Ex-Eagles back into the running next week.

The following games were played this week:

Friday: Business Men 1 vs. Ex-Eagles 0; Phillips 12 vs. Juniors 6; Road Runners 25 vs. Outlaws 12.

Monday: Business Men 15 vs. Phillips 7; Road Runners 1, vs. Ex-Eagles 0; Maroons vs. Whites, both failed to show up.

Tuesday: Juniors 1 vs. Maroons 0; Outlaws 1 vs. Ex-Eagles 0; Road Runners 14 vs. Whites 13.

The following is the schedule for the coming week:

Tonight: 1, Business Men vs. Outlaws; 2, Maroons vs. Road Runners; 3, Juniors vs. Whites.

Monday: 1, Business Men vs. Road Runners; 2, Juniors vs. Outlaws; 3, Phillips vs. Whites.

Tuesday: 1, Road Runners vs. Phillips; 2, Outlaws vs. Maroons; 3, Whites vs. Ex-Eagles.

Thursday: 1, Business Men vs. Maroons; 2, Phillips vs. Ex-Eagles; 3, Juniors vs. Whites.

Stone Cabins

north side of the canyon supply this water, and these springs are being developed to capacity. A permanent water supply throughout the Park is one of the problems which is being considered at the present time, and the geological society of Amarillo is making a survey to ascertain the best supply which may be tapped.

All phases of work at the Park has progressed well during the past few weeks, and it has been stated that the Palo Duro has more approvals through the office of the National Park Service than any five combined Parks in this division. With this increased number of projects on hand, a much better showing is expected than has been made in recent months.

Supt. Bryan received four truck loads of tools from the Meridian State Park last week, where he was located before being transferred to the Palo Duro. These tools will greatly facilitate work.

The Advisory Committee has set a price for the use of the lodge for parties and entertainments. The charge will be $7.50 for day, and $12.50 for night entertainments.

The four cabins at Cow Camp have been enjoyed by a number of campers during the past two weeks. A charge of $1.50 per day, or $10.00 per week has been set for the cabins.

While there is adequate water at several places in the Park, picnicking parties who wish a 10-gallon can of water delivered for their exclusive use may secure it for 25 cents by leaving orders at the gate.

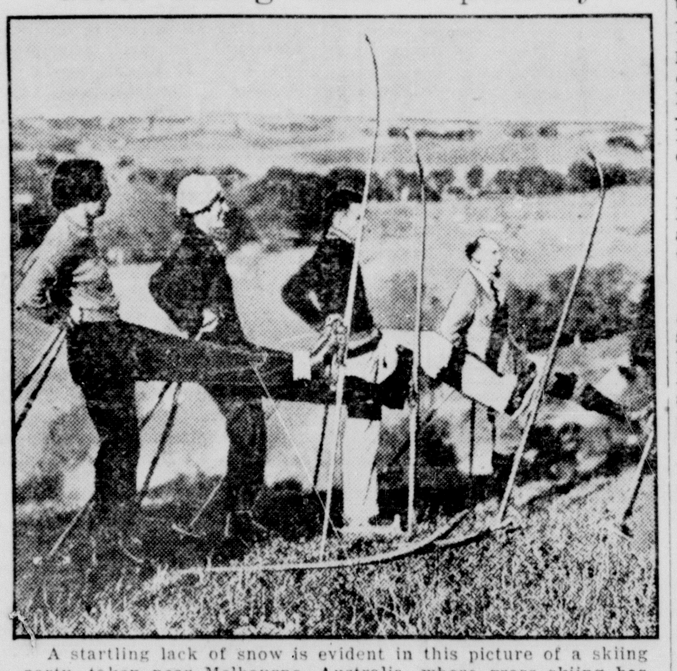
Grass Skiing Gains Popularity



A startling lack of snow is evident in this picture of a skiing party, taken near Melbourne, Australia, where grass skiing has become a popular sport. The long, slippery grass on the hillsides takes the place of snow, and it has the additional advantage of not freezing toes. On the other hand, there are no nice soft snowbanks to ease the beginner's falls.
